

After years of not being free to answer my phone because of the relentless harassment of telemarketers, my phone is now free of those annoying calls completely due to the strength of New Jersey's DO NOT CALL list. We had signed up for the national list, AND the New Jersey list. The National list still let some calls through, but since joining the New Jersey program, all calls have stopped. I fear that the weakening of the New Jersey law would once again allow some calls through. These companies are relentless in their pursuit of our money, and I wish them to stay off my back, if you don't mind.
